Students in the Department of Plants, Soils and Climate (PSC) at Utah State University conduct research with world-renowned scientists in the College of Agriculture and Applied Sciences. The students’ work covers a broad range of environmental issues and emphasizes the need to feed people and animals while protecting and preserving the world we share. During the recent PSC Student Showcase, a total of 51 undergraduate and graduate student scientists presented their work to peers, advisors and faculty.

Read More